ORGANIZATION.

The plan of instruction is so adjusted as to allow any who choose, to omit the study of Latin or Greek, either throughout the Course, or, with the advice of the Faculty, after the completion of the Sophomore year; substituting in their stead Modern Languages, and a more extended Mathematical and Scientific course. Hence the students in each class will be divided into two sections, corresponding to the two courses of study, and distinguished as the Classical and Scientific Sections.

The regular course for all students extends through four years; at the end of which time, those who pass a good examination in prescribed studies, are admitted to a degree—those who have pursued the entire Classical course, to the degree of Bachelor of Arts, and those who have pursued the Scientific Course, to that of Bachelor of Sciences.

Young gentlemen desiring to attend the recitations of particular departments, are allowed to do so, provided they have the requisite preparation for the studies of those departments, and become subject to the laws of the University. This arrangement is designed to meet the wants of those whose age or pursuits prevent them from pursuing either of the regular courses, but who are desirous of obtaining the liberal culture which the study of a portion of the courses will give them. Special pains are taken to give such persons the opportunities for instruction which they require.

ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to the University are expected to furnish satisfactory testimonials of character, and, if from other Colleges, certificates of regular dismission. No person will be admitted to the Freshman Class who has not completed his fourteenth year, or to an advanced standing, without a corresponding advance in age.

Tuesday before Commencement, and the opening of the following term, are the regular times for examining candidates. The examinations may take place at other times, at the discretion of the Faculty.

PREPARATORY STUDIES.

I.-CLASSICAL COURSE.

English, Latin and Greek Grammars, Four Books of Cæsar's Commentaries or Cornelius Nepos, Six Books of Virgil's Æneid, Cicero's Select Orations, Translating English into Latin, Greek Reader, Three Books of Xenophon's Anabasis, Geography, Arithmetic, and Algebra as far as Quadratic Equations.

II.—SCIENTIFIC COURSE.

RHETORICAL EXERCISES.

Orations are pronounced before the University, by students in the third term of the Junior, and the first and second terms of the Senior year; each student being required to exhibit twice in each term.

The Freshman and Sophomore Classes have a regular weekly exercise in Declamation, and Juniors and Sophomores are required to present original essays twice in each term.

LIBRARY AND READING ROOMS.

The Libraries of the University and of the Theological Seminary, amounting to more than 10,000 volumes, are in the same room, and are open daily for consultation and for the drawing of books. All the students have access to both the Library and the Reading Room, on the payment of a small fee.

RELIGIOUS EXERCISES.

The public duties of each day are opened at a quarter before nine o'clock, A. M., with reading the Scriptures and Prayer, in the University Chapel. The students are required to attend, unless specially excused by the Faculty.

The recitations are heard from 9 to 12 o'clock, A. M., each class having three daily exercises of one hour. The number or length of these exercises may be increased at the discretion of the Faculty. On Saturday, the classes attend in the Lecture Room but one hour. Instruction is given in text books, in connection with frequent Lectures.

MERIT ROLL.

An exact daily record is kept of the attendance, conduct and recitations of each student, as well as of the sufficiency and insufficiency of the excuses rendered for delinquency. Summaries of these records are made for every term and year. Being kept in a permanent form, they will determine the standing of each student at any period of his connection with the University, and in the end will exhibit a complete history of his College course, for subsequent reference.

MORAL AND RELIGIOUS CULTURE.

It is the aim of the Faculty, in connection with the discipline of the intellect, to inculcate a pure morality, and the great truths and duties of Evangelical Christianity. Weekly prayer meetings are held in all the classes in the University. A Missionary Society for Inquiry, composed of members of the University and Theological Seminary, holds two public meetings monthly—one for prayer, and the other for a report on some important theme connected with the missionary enterprise.

Parents and guardians are requested to designate places of worship, at which their sons or wards shall regularly attend on the Sabbath; and, also, to entrust the general supervision of their pecuniary expenditures either to some member of the Faculty, or to some other responsible person in the city.

In the Greek Department there is a weekly recitation in the Greek New Testament.

EXAMINATIONS.

- 1. Of all the classes at the close of the first and second terms, on the studies of the term.
 - 2. Of the Senior Class four weeks before Commencement.
- 3. Of the other classes the week before Commencement, on the studies of the term.

Examinations are conducted by a combination of written and oral exercises. In the Greek and Latin Departments, students are required to make written translations, in the presence of the examining officer, of passages not previously read.

PUBLIC EXERCISES.

- 1. Junior Exhibition, on the fourth Friday in the second term.
- 2. Prize Declamations of the Sophomore Class, on the Monday evening preceding Commencement.
 - 3. Commencement on the second Wednesday in July.

EXPENSES.

Good board is provided by the Janitor, at the Boarding Hall, for $1,50 per week. Board can be obtained in private families at rates varying from $1,50 to $3,00.

The rules for payment of tuition, established by the Trustees, require the settlement of all bills at the commencement of each term; that students in the partial course pay full tuition—and

A large number of students find profitable employment in the city, in teaching private pupils and classes, and in various other occupations; thus enabling themselves to provide in considerable part for the expenses of their education.

Indigent students for the Ministry, regularly approved by churches, receive assistance from the New York Baptist Union for Ministerial Education, and, under certain conditions, free tuition from the University.

Other indigent students, of good character, are occasionally assisted from funds at the disposal of the President.

Parents and guardians are earnestly requested to exercise a careful supervision over their sons or wards, and to discriminate between necessary and unnecessary expenses. Experience proves that nothing has a more unfavorable influence upon a student's moral conduct and habits of study, than the unrestrained use of money.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

Two Literary Societies, the Delphic and Pithonian, are in efficient operation, and have attractive halls for their weekly meetings.
